REAL ESTATE VALUES INCREASING.

COUNTRY PROPERTY IN DEMAND-THE CITY MARKET STRONG.

The real-estate market last week was inclined to quietness. There was a slight improvement toward the latter part of the week, and on Saturday several large sales were made. The private sales of the week show that there was a slight advance in the value of property over the corresponding period last year. The largest sale of the week was that by John N. Golding of Broadway property. A description of this is printed elsewhere. The sale of the corner of Washington and Liberty sts. for $150,000 was one of the tures of the week. This sale is a good illustration of the advance of property in the last five years in that section of the city. There has been a great deal brokers who lease and sell country houses say that of the desirable houses are taken, and the seckers for

A BENEFIT FOR E. J. BUCKLEY.

A benefit is to be arranged to take place at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on Sunday evening, May 7, for E. J. Buckley, the well-known actor, who is deserving of such an attention, and is said to be in need of it. It is almost two years since Mr. Buckley was stricken with paralysis. A serious sickness of months fol-lowed, and when finally it was over Mr. Buckley applied himself to resuming his active professional career. Each time he endeavored to do so recurring symptoms forced him to abandon it. Although it was only too apparent to his friends that the actor's career was ended, Mr. Buckley, with undaunted spirit, has steadfastly refused to believe it, and still thinks he will be enabled to resume acting at no distant off altogether, and his many friends have succeeded in inducing him to overcome his repugnance to a benefit, and are bending their energies to testify their appreciation both of the man and the actor, who in his twenty-seven years of professional life cheerfully gave his services whenever requested. H. C. Miner has given the use of his theatre, and all the local Miner has given the use of his theatre, and all the local managers are interested in the undertaking. On the com-mittee are Hoyt & Thomas, Rudolph Aronson, Harry Mann, J. Wesley Rosenquest, A. M. Palmer, Daniel Frohman, Gilmore & Tompkins, Joseph Broeks, An-drew A. McCormick, F. W. Sanger, A. L. Hayman, Charles Frohman, Will J. Davis, J. M. Hill, J. H. Russell, Frank McKee, Marcus R. Mayer, Marc Klaw, A. L. Erlanger, C. B. Jefferson, H. C. Miner, M. W. Hanley, Frank B. THE VAUDEVILLE CLUB'S OPERA BOX.

AN ARRANGEMENT BY WILLOU MEMBERS MAY SEE PERFORMANCES GRATIS.

The directors of the Vandeville Club made an im set at rest all rumors about the club's sinking out of existence. The quarters occupied in the Metropolitan Opera House last senson have been leased for another year, together with a big box at the opera. Members of the club will be admitted to this free. Detail of the arrangement are given in the following circular which was sent out yesterday to the members by Preble Tucker, secretary of the club:
"The directors of the Vaudeville Club have made arrangements with Mr. Henry E. Abbey, the lessee of the Metropolitan Opera House, whereby the club will occupy next season its old quarters, altered to suit the requirements of the club.

more (see the enclosed diagram), for the exclusive use of the members of the club. Admission to this box will be free only to the members of the club during all performances of grand opera, both sub-cription and extra nights, also sunday night concerts. Under of the auditorium at the reduced price of $1.

ess this season has been remarkably active. Most be given regularly during a season beginning about the end of November and ending the latter part of April.

"In view of the contemplated alterations week ending provements in the club rooms, and the opera privilege sentioned above, the directors have decided to crease the annual dues of resident members to $75, and of non-resident members to $50, and have fixed September 1 as the date upon which said dues are of $25 will doubtless seem a small enough outlay for the additional privileges. Mr. Abbey will give at least fifty-one performances of opera and seventeen or more Sunday night concerts. Therefore member-of the club will virtually have to pay only about 35 cents for admission to the opera, for there will doubtless be extra performances, at which the box will be at the club's disposal, as well as on the regular club box will be on the grand tier floor, subscription nights.

formerly the first tier, on the south side of the andi-torium. It is shown as the omnibus box in the dia-gram of the tier published in The Tribune last Sunday. There are 104 seats in it, and standing room in the rear will accommodate even more than that number. A door leads from the box directly into the of the building, and the auditorium. This will be used by members who wish to call on friends in To them admission will be $1. regular price for general admission is $1.50. Tids door will also be of great convenience to occupants of boxes who may wish to have supper at the club. Several box-holders at the opera already belong to the Vandeville, and it is likely that nearly all the rest will join it. Persons would naturally prefer to rest will join it. Persons would naturally prefer to walk right from their box at the opera to the club rooms for supper, instead of going to a restaurant. They would have the additional pleasure of the vande-ville entertainment, and would not have to put on their coats and wraps and to make an extra journey in their carriages. Besides all this, would be the evident advantages of the club over a public restaurant.

It is possible that the club will not have its Sunday night concerts next year, or at least that they will differ somewhat from those of last year. Mr. Abbey has promised to give concerts of a higher order than the club could afford to pay for, and the club might not feel like competing with him. At the same time, the attendance of the club in the season just closed was usually greatest on Sunday nights, and the members would perhaps not find their omnibus box large enough. This question can, however, be settled easily enough when the time comes.

The club's membership is now about 740, and it is unlikely that the increased dues will cause any considerable number to resign. On the other hand, the new privileges will doubtless be a strong attraction for many. The club had a surplus of about 83,000 at the end of its first season, after spending nearly $14,000 in fifting up the assembly rooms of the opera house for its use. The restaurant yielded a profit.

THE GREAT CIRCUS STEALS AWAY. BARNUM & BAILEY FOLD THEIR TENTS AND GO

There was an unusual stir at the Madison Square Garden last night. The Barnum & Bailey Circus which has been a five weeks' tenant there, pulled up stakes and left the Garden after the evening per-formance. Polding their tents like the Arabs, the circus people stele away to Erocklyn, but not sitently. There were a tramping of many hoofs, the trampeting of elephants and the angry snarling of the carnivora. sions through the streets at midnight. Even before urney, who had been holding the usual twilight procession in horor of Columbus, the closed cages began to file out into Fourth-ave, from the subterra-nean parts of the Garden. It reeded all the available expletives of the circus vocabulary, the tugging of horses and the pushing of elephates to get some of these great arks up the gangway and out into the street. THE OLD GUARD'S ANNIVERSARY.

IT ELECTS OFFICERS, HAS A PARABE AND DIN-

NER AND HEARS A SERMON. The Old Guard last evening finished up its exerhas commemorating the sixty seventh numiversary of the organization with a dinner at the armory, at Earlier in the day here was an installation of officers, a parade up Fifth ave. to St. Thomas's Church, at Fifty-third-st. and anniversary services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. John W. Brown: General Frederick R. Halsey, of Governor Flower's staff, acted as installing officer. Major Thomas E. Sloan became major in place of the late Major George W. McLean and the other officers who assumed their places were Captains William Henry White and James F. Wenman, and Lieutenants Robert P. Lyon, George Chappell and John J. Gleason. Major Sloan also announced the appointments of staif officers.

After these preliminaries the command to fall in was given, and the whole command marched up Fifth ive, to St. Thomas's Church. They attracted much attention from the people on the streets, the crowdat the corners cheering as the men passed. Ex-tremely impressive ceremonies were held in the The list of the dead members of the organization was called and after each name there was a ization was called and after care name there was a beat of muffled drums sounded. Those who had died within the last year were Major George W. McLean, General James W. Husted, Rofus Hatch and William D. Garrison. After the services the men marched down Fifth-ave, to the armory at Fourteenth-S., where a dinner was

After the services the men marked down fifth ave, to the armony at Fourteenth-st, where a dimer was served. The march had given them all good appe-tites, and they did full justice to the good things set before them. There were no formal toasts, but the chairman called upon several of the members and the calls were responded to with short speeches.

FEWER CASES OF INFICENZA IN THE CITY

THE DEATH RATE STILL HIGH FOR THE TIME OF YEAR-FILTHY STREETS A CAUSE. Physicians of the Health Department said yesterday that the death records indicated a decline in the epidemic of Influenza, which has afflicted New-Yorkers several weeks. The number of deaths from influenza last week was only thirteen, as compared with thirtytality from pneumonia and brenchitis was noticed also, and it is known that the fatality of both those diseases has been largely increased by the prevailing general mortality last week, and the death-rate is cult unusually high for this season of the year. The number of deaths reported last week was 1,056, and there is reason to believe that the delay in removing filth from the streets in the tenement-house districts has caused much sickness. One indication was a noticeable increase in the number of deaths among contagious diseases in the city hast week. Fewer cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria and smallpox were r ported, but there was evidence of a spread of typins fever and a slight increase of typhoid fever was noted. The mortality from contagious diseases increased slightly. The record of those diseases in the city during two weeks is appended;

coung children. Following is the record of deaths

A BIG TRANSFER OF BROADWAY PROPERTY

NOS. 28 TO 42 INCLUSIVE SOLD FOR $2,000,000-A LARGE INCREASE IN VALUES. John N. Golding, acting for a number of wealthy people, has purchased the properties running from No. 32 to No. 42 Broadway, and from No. 49 to No. this is one of the largest real-estate transfers madin many years. The price paid was $2,000,000. The property has a frontage on Broadway of 100 feet, and on Newest. 1s2 feet. The entire plot contains 36. 000 square fect. All the old buildings now standing on this property will be demolished and a fourteen story office building will be erected.

The building at No. 32 Broadway is occupied by "The Commercial Bulletin." This property w: owned by Edward C. F. Vilder. The price paid for it was $200,000. No. 34 Broadway was bought from it was $200,000. No. 34 Broadway was sought from R. T. Wilson for $555,000. The building at Nos. 56 and 36 1-2 Breadway is a four-story brick structure, and the ground flour has been occupied by S. H. Wilkams, a grocer, since 1875. The other floors are used for offices. This building was owned by the Mitchell estate, and sold for $605,000. In 1865 it was sold for $70,000. Nos. 38, 40 and 42 Broadway were bought from Mrs. Helen Langdon for about $800,000. The average price per square foot paid for the properties was about $55. This is regarded as a comparatively low fluure.

The following figures give the prices per square foot paid in the last few years for property in lower froodway: In 1820, Nos. 31 and 33 Broadway were bought for $79 a square foot; in 1887, No. 60 Broadway $70 a square foot; in 1888, No. 30 Broadway $70 a square foot; in 1888,
